

HEIGO VARE – VIHULA MANOR'S GENERAL MANAGER

On March 19, Heigo Vare, who came to Vihula Manor in October, 2015, became the Manor's general manager and a member of the board. We asked him about his goals now as the manager of the manor complex.

We definitely wish to raise the level of our service and products in every aspect experienced by our guests, from booking a room or a table at the restaurant to departure. This entails a lot of different activities and areas from renovating the rooms to developing new catering departments. Over the next three years, Vihula Manor should be the best among its competitors in Estonia as well as neighbouring countries. We wish to see more guests from Estonia here as well, to share in this unforgettable experience of Estonia's history in the form of Vihula Manor. We are also focusing on the foreign market to increase its proportion and to put more effort into the development of Estonia's tourism in cooperation with the three Lahemaa National Park manors.

You have worked in various countries during your career. Which of them do you like the most and why?

Australia will always be a definite favourite for its friendly and laid-back attitude. Thailand has also left a deep mark for its special culture. The people there are very warm and kind. I would definitely recommend visiting Thailand, as there is much to be learned from their culture.

What do you do in your free time? What are your hobbies?

In my free time, which there is not a lot of, I mostly do sports and I travel. One hobby of mine is running. And since I have lived in different places, in the midst of different cultures, then my other hobby is trying out various cuisines. I visit a lot of restaurants, which is probably the reason I need to do a little extra exercise.

What would you recommend for the guests at Vihula to definitely try during their visit?

I would recommend trying all our different services and products. They have been meticulously created to offer unique experiences in the whole manor. It is worth going on the manor tour, trying the vodka tasting and enjoying our luxurious spa treatments.
